What's next?

We aim for 20x growth over 10 years

The number of freelancers, solopreneurs, and small businesses is growing worldwide.

This will drive the demand for easy-to-use solutions that help businesses not only get online but also grow using marketing and lead generation tools, ads, direct emails, and other solutions.

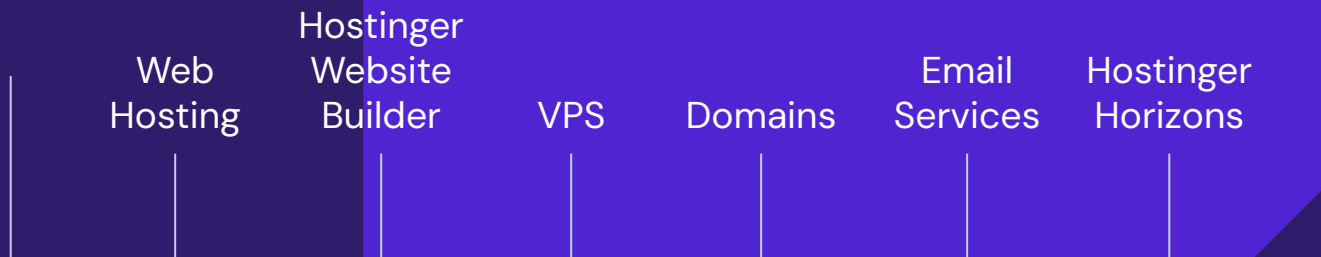

However, as more people and businesses get online, competition intensifies, making it more important to help them stand out from the crowd.

That's where we come in.

Client interviews

Every Hostinger employee is encouraged to have client interviews. We conduct around 1,000 of them each year.

We turn client feedback into actionable steps on how to improve our services.

Check out what Kristina Strimaitė, our Chief Marketing Officer, has to say about the impact of client interviews.

👋 just had an interview with Victor. He's a professor from Chile 🇨🇱

- He would love us to offer server in Chile, so he would have less latency problems. @Arnas Donauskas
- He got to know Hostinger through constantly seeing our tutorial videos recommendations. 💜
- He is pleased with our articles and tutorials, which helped him multiple times. 💜
- 📺 Quite recently he was renewing his hosting plan with Paypal and accidentally renewed it twice as he did not receive confirmation, his website were down for half of a day and he had to contact support. Conversation 🗨️ @Robertas Jašmontas

@client-interview-help, could you contact him with gift options? thank you in advance 🙏

Customer connection

Our work always starts with the customer. Every day, we have hundreds of live interactions with customers.

At Hostinger, everyone can experience this firsthand by shadowing a Customer Success agent and observing how they handle real-time conversations.

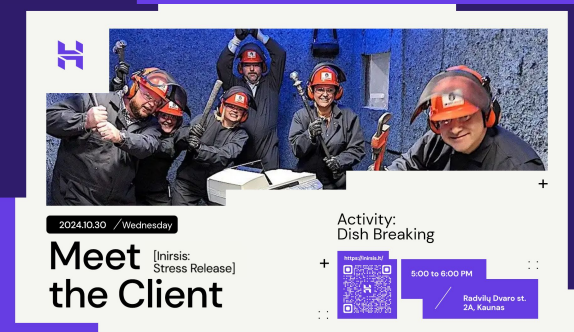

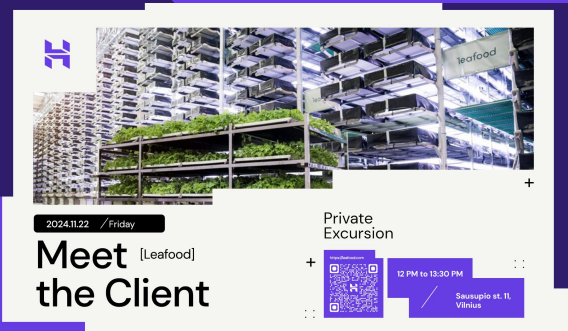

Meet the client

Interviews and observations are great, but nothing beats meeting our clients in person.

Whether it's puppy yoga, a degustation, or an escape room, these real-life interactions let us connect beyond just names on a screen. We get to know our clients in a more relaxed setting, understand their needs better, and strengthen our team along the way.

And we don't just do this in Lithuania or Indonesia. We try to meet our clients wherever we go, whether it's a business trip or a workation.

Product testing sessions

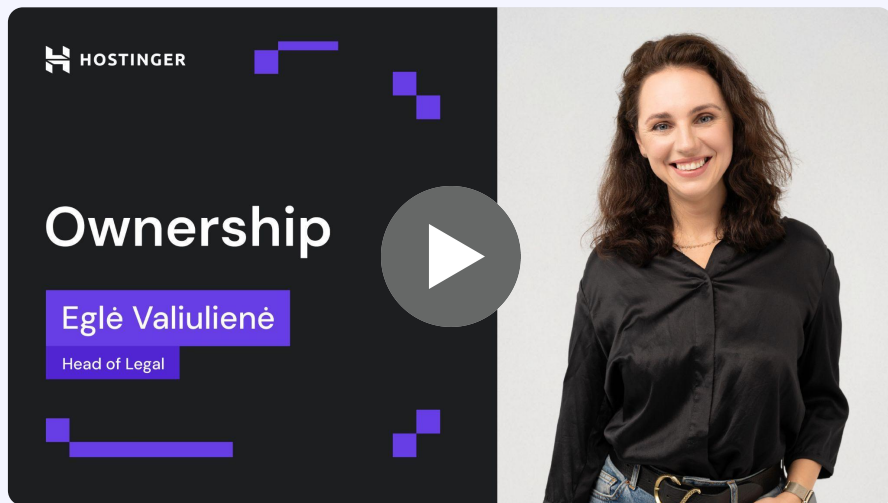

Each day, we work to make things smoother for our customers, always looking for ways to improve.

To bring this vision to life, we encourage all Hostinger team members to join product testing sessions.

These sessions are a chance to experience our products firsthand, share valuable feedback, and work closely with our product team to make meaningful improvements.

Ownership
